- If so can they be easily carried? • Will they work on real doors?

The JTC CLAW is the solution

The JTC Lever is designed to exponentially increase the prying capabilities of the JTC Claw; a force multiple many times greater than any other manual pry tool on the market today. Made from 100% USA Steel by the American Worker for the American Warrior. Available in Black, Safety Yellow, Tan and Fire Engine Red. The JTC Lever is the perfect tool to be used for urban search and Rescue as well as FEMA responses. The JTC Lever can be used by any operator by simply sliding it over the handle of the JTC Claw and applying the same pry angle. The mounting block at the end of the JTC Lever features a small T-Handle set screw in order to prevent the JTC Claw from slipping out so it maintains position during the pry. The JTC Lever gives the operator the option to be stored fully assembled, or broken down in half depending on the storage space. The vehicle mounts will accommodate it in either configuration making it ideal for a wide range of vehicles from Strykers to HMMVs. The JTC Lever has two D-rings attached to it; one at the top of the lever and one at the bottom. These points allow the operator to tie off the tool. Or place a tug strap onto the loops in order to provide added mechanical horsepower to the pry operation. The JTC Lever features a T-Handle at the top, which allows two operators to apply force simultaneously.

The JTC Lever's sole purpose is Search and Rescue (S&R). It is designed to provide as much mechanical advantage as possible in the field during S&R operations. Removing a trapped soldier from a pile of rubble or the hulk of a vehicle after an IED explosion, or rescuing a victim from a collapsed building after a natural disaster are just two examples. It is designed to be used as an emergency tool when access to power tool, like the Jaws of Life is limited.

The modular, two part design of the JTC Lever, combined with the JTC Claw allows the platform to be carried easily through a debris pile without causing undue fatigue and/or injury to the operator. The JTC Lever, once assembled and applied to a pre-set JTC Claw, becomes more rigid and stronger than the average full length pry bar, yet maintains much more mobility and is significantly lighter in weight

The Twin-Ram breaks down from one 60 pound two-man battering ram, into two separate and fully functional 30 pound rams. Perfectly balanced center carry handles sit between the two operating handles on each section.

The overall length when assembled is 54 inches, and the overall weight is just under 60lbs. The Twin-Ram is designed to effectively provide the operators with two options. The first option is to use the individual rams separately and independent of one another on simultaneous breach problems. The second option is to assemble the two units together, secure them in place with the red T-handled set screw, and utilize the tool as to two-man battering specifically designed to attack fortified objects.

One end of the Twin-Ram has a standard 5X5" strike plate, which is found on most basic battering rams. This design and shape is used to effectively and efficiently dismantle concrete and cinder block walls in the two-man configuration by causing mass trauma to the wall material.

The opposite end has a specifically designed striking wedge that allows the forward (# 1) operator to direct all of the forcible manual-entry energy produced by the two Twin-Ram operators directly into the seam of the door, thus attacking the weakest link of any functioning fortified door.

The wedge technique for the Twin-Ram is highly effective in tight hallways as it reduces the danger of the backswing. This is because the wedge is positioned at a 45-degree angle to the seam of the inward opening door, allowing the operators to complete multiple strikes to the target area without interfering with the entry team stacked in the hallway. The direction of the Twin-Ram wedge swing, both in one and two man configurations, is almost parallel to the hallway walls.

The Twin-Ram can be effectively carried up or down a ladder or stairwell, or down a fast rope in two units (one man configuration), and then assembled in seconds to strike an Interior safe room door on any level of a target.

The innovative product allows first responders to respond to a pre-staged locker and retrieve items such as the JTC CLAW, a first aid kit and more in order to complete a BREACH and save kids' lives!!!! The EMERGENCY RESPONSE LOCKER follows the Jersey Tactical Corp. PRINCIPLES of #PATROL4LIFE.

The locker is weather proof and constructed of a sturdy steel alloy allowing you to mount the locker anywhere you wish with bolts. The location is only limited by your imagination.

The EMERGENCY RESPONSE LOCKER allows for important lifesaving equipment to be staged prior to the event. Once the lockers are mounted and loaded with the gear you select you then should map the lockers locations. This map should then be shared to all those who would respond in the event of mutual aid to the event along with the fleet key for the lockers. By doing this you have solved the AGE OLD problem of having and moving equipment across large areas while attempting to respond direct threat to an event.

Imagine a large campus setting and patrol responds to an event or security both are more then likely to be away from the satellite office or vehicle where the gear is stored for response to such an event. Instead of having to leave the area in order to retrieve gear from an office or vehicle they could simply respond to one of the pre- staged lockers open it and be able to go direct threat asap. TIME IS LIFE!!!!

THE EMERGENCY RESPONSE LOCKER reduces this timeline easily in half by providing the equipment at the event. Not you having to bring the equipment with you. Look at the area the officers would have to travel on foot while under stress and carrying extra gear all the while wearing the famous 50 LB duty rig.
